

Consulting Strategies that Support Empowerment

Peter Block

Peter will explore the complexity of creating partnerships as a coach and consultant. Based on his book, Flawless Consulting, he will define the skills of contracting and how to work in a way that builds the other's capacity to operate accountably. The skills are at the center of being in a truly service function and alternative to the paternalism that characterizes most of our staff units.