

Consulting for Changing Organizations

Peter Block

Peter will explore the challenges of consulting for changing organizations and the complexity of consulting in a world where everyone now is a consultant. Based on his book, Flawless Consulting, he will discuss how to work in a way that builds the capacity for all partners to operate accountably and how to avoid the paternalism that characterizes most of our efforts to change cultures. Specific focus will be on implementation and how to engage people at the moment of action.
